The screenshot shows the MyLibrary website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with options like Home, My Account, Favorites, Quick Links, and Self Service. Below this is a search bar and a grid of category buttons: Ask a Librarian, Find a Book, Find My Library, Deployment Library Support, Read a Magazine or Newspaper, Read or Listen to a Book, and Practice Tests. A large grid of topic categories follows, including Automotive, Biography, Business & Personal Finance, Careers & Resumes, College Search, Cultural Awareness, Digital Collections, Encyclopedias & Dictionaries, Entertainment, Family Life, Genealogy, Government, Health & Wellness, History, Home Improvement, Homework Help, Legal Resources, Literature, Military Resources, Pathfinders & Bibliographies, Research, Science & Technology, and Sports.

Below the grid, there are two main sections:

- NEW LIBRARY DATABASES: Links to newly acquired library databases are listed below. A featured entry is "Grzimek's Animal Life", which has authoritative coverage of more than 4,000 species. A link is provided to access Grzimek's.
- Ask a Librarian Now!: A section for users who cannot find answers on Google. It includes a link to "Ask a Librarian" and a description of the service.

Further down, there are sections for "MyLibrary Audio Books" (with a "mylibraryaudio" logo and a link to the audio book collection), "Facts.com" (with a "REFERENCE SUITE @ FACTS.com" logo and a link to search for facts), and "CountryWatch.com" (with a world map logo and a link to access CountryWatch).

On the right side, there is a "Library Databases" section titled "Library Database Links" which lists various resources such as A-Z Journal List, Academic OneFile, Army Audio eBook Library, and many others.

At the bottom of the page, there is a status bar showing "Trusted sites | Protected Mode: Off" and a zoom level of "100%".
