

Critical Support for U.S. Special Forces

CACI is looking for select individuals who want to make a difference in the defense of the nation by supporting high-profile, sensitive missions in support of U.S. Special Forces.

The selection process is rigorous. We are looking for qualified candidates who have the technical skills and experience to effectively support the rapid pace of real-world operations. If chosen, you will be part of a dedicated, professional geospatial team and will liaison with multiple internal and external partners. You will provide full spectrum imagery/Full Motion Video (FMV) analysis, phases 1-3: Processing, Exploitation, and Dissemination (PED) to ensure the highest quality and timely support to U.S. Special Forces missions. As part of the team, you may qualify to attend advanced level training.

All positions require an active TS/SCI security clearance.
